3/29/2024	1:00 PM - 2:30 PM	Sensory Regulation and Communication	Did you know that the environment around us (and inside us) can affect how we communicate? Sensory regulation refers to the ability to effectively manage and respond to sensory input from the environment. When we are unable to manage sensory input effectively, it can impact our ability to pay attention, engage, and learn! When we learn sensory regulation techniques, we are better able to support one another! Join the Office of Developmental Programs' (ODP) Special Populations' Unit for this fascinating training on Sensory Regulation and Communication.	All Stakeholders
